

IN THE ABSTRACT

Please delete the current Abstract in its entirety and substitute therefore the following New Abstract:

NEW ABSTRACT

A record carrier having a data zone and an initial zone and including a main channel storing content and a side channel storing address information and data relevant for making recordings, wherein content protection information for protection of the content is stored in the side channel in said data zone.